

6th ACG MUN

Breaking Barriers

Handbook

April 1 & 2, 2023

Welcoming Remarks - School

Dear ACGMUN participant,

Welcome to the 6th annual American College of Greece Model United Nations Conference hosted by Pierce.

This year's Pierce-MUN conference is titled "Breaking Barriers" – and this is what our Institution has been doing throughout its 148-year history, faithfully adhering to the school's motto: Non ministrari sed ministrare (Not to be served, but to serve).

One of the unfortunate trends of our times, is that the world is again at risk of seeing new barriers erected between increasingly insular camps of like-minded states, something that we all hoped was a thing of the past following the end of the Cold War.

Yet today, more than ever, humanity faces global issues that require global solutions – across states and ideologies – in order to be addressed effectively. Issues such as climate change and environmental degradation, mass migrations, pandemics, disarmament, economic inequality and others are best addressed when people and countries work together.

MUN enables young people, debating and working together, to get a first taste of these global issues and understand the compromises necessary in order to address them. MUN is, in essence, a lesson in true leadership, helping students hone skills such as critical thinking, persuasion and negotiation and transgenerational responsibility.

As the dark clouds of war reappear over the skies of Europe after almost eight decades of peace, these skills and the young people who carry them, are our best hope for a better future.

With these thoughts, I would like to welcome you to The American College of Greece and wish you a successful 6th Annual Pierce-MUN Conference.

Iliana Lazana
Senior Vice President of Administration and Pierce

Welcoming Remarks - Secretariat

Dear MUN Directors, Advisors and Esteemed Delegates,

On behalf of the Secretariat, it is our great pleasure and honour to cordially invite you to the 6th annual session of the American College of Greece Model United Nations conference, held at Pierce – ACG West Campus in Agia Paraskevi, from the 1st to 2nd of April, 2023.

After two wholly online sessions, we are very delighted to announce the live status of the conference, where more than 600 delegates from all over world will be able to debate on current and heated issues ranging from judicial legislative independence to medical humanitarianism, all falling under our core theme "Breaking Barriers". The term "barriers" can be characterized especially broad when it comes to the context of politics and diplomacy as barriers have been formed in a multitude of refugee crises, in the identity of the individual under the employment scheme and cultural and social preoccupations in the forming of alliances. These barriers are the primary example of items that prohibit the global community from going forward and advancing into a more inclusive and mutually flourishing space. We, as the new generation of this society, are responsible for ultimately eliminating these barriers to foster economic and social benefit for all Member States of the United Nations.

Participating in the academic simulation of the United Nations can be seen as a first step towards realizing our responsibilities as global citizens and furthermore, as a great opportunity to practice in dealing with a multitude of pressing issues of our world, such that all aforementioned boundaries and barriers, in a context of fruitful collaboration and peaceful deliberation, will be broken. During the 3-day session, you will be tasked to engage in discussions and cope up with innovative and feasible solutions to matters of paramount importance, which even diplomats and global politics have failed to address. In ACGMUN, we hope to offer you a friendly platform for engaging debate and actively exchanging ideas on the vastly different topics of the agenda and to urge you to envision new perspectives in the tackling of major challenges of our globe.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in April and we are truly positive that you possess all the required skills to engage in diplomatic dialogue and work together towards tangible and beneficial solutions. As Kofi Annan, a former Secretary General of the UN, has wisely stated "More than ever before in human history, we share a common destiny. We can master it only if we face it together."

Yours Sincerely,

Christoforos Foteinelis
Secretary General

Elena Ioannou
President of the General Assembly

Sustainability @ ACG

Today, the fact that human activity impacts nature and climate in a harmful manner with direct consequences on the environment, society and the economy is an undisputed scientific reality. It is vital for today's students—the leaders of tomorrow- to understand how sustainable development can reverse environmental degradation and the climate change spiral and mitigate their tremendous social and financial side effects.

As a leading educational institution, the American College of Greece commits to educate, inspire and empower its students, as well as faculty and staff, to develop a sustainability culture and to collaborate the local community in promoting sustainability best practices.

In December 2017, ACG was awarded the STARS Silver Rating, in recognition of its sustainability practices in four categories: Academics, Operations, Community Engagement & Social Responsibility and Planning & Administration. ACG is the only academic institution in Greece to have received such a rating by the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education (AASHE), an internationally acclaimed association. In 2018, ACG earned a spot in SIERRA Magazine's 'Cool Schools' list, the "greenest" Colleges list and "The Princeton Review's Guide to 399 Green Colleges", a list featuring some of the most environmentally responsible colleges worldwide. Additionally, ACG was a top performer in AASHE, "Sustainability Campus Index" for the third consecutive year where ACG was featured as a top performer in three categories (Grounds, Food & Dining, Work & Wellbeing). Moreover, through its membership in the UN Academic Impact (UNAI) and the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network (SDSN), the College systematically supports and enhances the United Nations 17 Sustainable Development Goals.

ACG Center of Excellence for Sustainability

The Office of Public Affairs leads all sustainability-related activities and oversees the operation of the Center of Excellence for Sustainability (CES). Founded in 2011, the Center of Excellence for Sustainability is a collaborative initiative that brings together education, research, operations and events to advance sustainability on campus. It aims mainly at bridging educational activities with sustainable operations initiatives, while enhancing experiential learning for ACG students.

Based on our commitment to enhance our sustainability efforts as a community and in order to establish a sustainability culture on campus, this academic year, the Office of Public Affairs and the Center of Excellence for Sustainability have launched the #ACGgoesplasticfree campaign.

Highlights of the campaign:

- The launch of the ACG-branded reusable water bottle.
- Installation of two top notch hydration stations, one at Pierce and one at Deree, where one can refill their reusable bottle with quality water.
- A variety of awareness-raising activities/events have been organized in the context of the campaign.
- Single-use plastic cups have been banned at all ACG offices and replaced them with biodegradable ones.
- ACG, in collaboration with the NGO 'Team for the World' now upcycles all unused/old banners.
- Signs encouraging the ACG community to bring their own reusable items will be placed at all on campus vendors in spring 2019.

Did you know?

- Using a reusable water bottle will prevent 167 plastic water bottles from ending up in the landfill annually.
- Using a reusable cup will prevent 500 single-use plastic beverage cups from the landfill per year.
- Using just one reusable bag during the year will prevent 170 plastic bags from becoming trash.
- Using a metal or bamboo straw in your beverages will prevent 540 single-use plastic straws from ending up in the landfill or our oceans.

What can I do?

"Every individual matters. Every individual has a role to play. Every individual makes a difference."

Dr. Jane Goodall, Primatologist and Anthropologist

So, you can:

- Bring your own cup to school.
- Refuse the straw.
- Bring your reusable bottle.
- Use your own food container.
- Carry a reusable bag with you.
- Reduce, Reuse, Recycle!
- Use public transportation, walk, or bike more often.
- Think before you print!
- Buy ugly fruits and vegetables. They are equally delicious and nutritious!
- Donate instead of throwing away.
- Buy foods and products produced locally. Support organically grown produce.
- Reduce energy consumption by turning down the heat and turning off the lights or any other electronic device when not in use.
- Keep the windows closed when the A/C is on.

Sustainability @ ACGMUN

Through careful planning and implementation of best practices, this conference satisfies the requirements of the "ACG Sustainable Events Guidelines", taking the efforts one step further by:

Policy

Setting a sustainability policy outright-and then amplifying this policy across all planning areas- will help minimize resource consumption, maximize reuse of materials, and spread awareness of the event's commitment to sustainability.

What have we done?

Implementation

- Event planners confirm adherence to the ACG Sustainable Events policy.
- Event planners have considered sustainability when submitting requests to the Purchasing Office.
- Event planners have taken the ACG Sustainability Pledge and have considered the online signing of the pledge by participants during the event.

Promoting

- Event planners are confident in their sustainability awareness levels and have committed to educating participants during/after the event.
- Event is promoted, once certified, as a "Sustainable Event".
- Giveaways or gifts are eliminated or replaced with environmentally responsible options.

Materials

Successful sustainable waste management diverts materials from landfills and incineration by minimizing resource consumption and maximizing reuse.

What have we done?

Paper/Printed Materials/Promotional

- Pre- and post- event communication is done electronically.
- Promotion and advertising of the event is done electronically.
- Banners and signage are not date or venue/location restricted and can be reused.
- Some printed materials are printed on recycled material/paper.
- Printed materials have been printed on both sides using wide margins.
- Handbooks describing the content of the conference have been alternated as QR codes and placed as stickers in the folders of the participants.

Sustainability @ ACGMUN

Waste

- Reusable materials have been used for decorations.
- Attendees RSVP or are registered prior to the event in order to avoid excess procurement and waste.
- Waste Streams are clearly labelled.
- Event planners have ensured appropriate access to recycling bins for the entire event.
- Unused items at the end of the event are stored for reuse or exchange.
- Ensure any packaging materials are minimal, reusable and/or recyclable.

Catering

Promoting sustainable food practices is integral to the resilience of our planet, its economies, and its people. We can improve human and environmental health by making well-informed, sustainable decisions.

What have we done?

- Event planners have ensured for catering according to various social/ethnic/personal dietary restrictions.
- Food offered includes vegetarian options.
- Event planners have made arrangements for the charitable distribution of leftover food.

Energy

More sustainable energy and transportation can help lower event costs, reduce negative ecological impact and create a healthier, more comfortable event space.

What have we done?

Venue

- Event is held in a venue chosen for its energy efficiency and sustainable amenities, i.e., a space with natural lighting, or outdoors.
- Lighting and equipment used during the event to be monitored for energy consumption.
- Event planners have considered minimizing heat/cooling loss through choice of venue.

Transit/Transportation Options

- Venue is accessible by foot, bicycle, or public transportation.
- Attendees are encouraged to take public transportation, bike, or walk to event and are provided with info, as appropriate.
- Buses are arranged for transportation to, from, and/or during events.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Conduct

Standards of conduct are expected to be maintained on a high level. All participants are expected to behave in an appropriate manner and respect other delegates, chairs and staff; The Secretariat reserves the right to ban any participant failing to adhere to the rules of the Conference.

MUN Directors' and Guardians' Responsibilities and Conduct

All students must be accompanied by, and are the responsibility of, the designated MUN Director or Guardian.

At least one MUN Director per school (or Guardian per individual participant) is expected to be present at the Conference at all times.

MUN Directors and Guardians must ensure that their students are present in their designated forums and follow the rules of procedure and conduct at all times. MUN Directors are not to interfere with the committee work.

MUN Directors are also required to adhere to the dress code.

Fees & Deadlines

Fees include: meals, snacks and participation in the Social Event on Saturday.

Fees are not refundable.

No changes will be accepted after February 28, 2023.

Dress Code

Delegates should be reminded that formal attire is required. The ACGMUN Staff will warn delegates who are inappropriately dressed. If the delegates do not comply with the rules of conduct, they will be asked to leave.

ACGMUN Badge

All participants should always wear their badges, otherwise they will not be permitted into the sessions.

Flags, Robes

The Flags and Robes of the International Court of Justice are property of the ACGMUN. They may not be removed or defaced and be returned to the staff.

Placards

Placards are provided on the basis one per delegate. It is essential that delegates do not lose them. You need your placard for being recognized and for voting.

Medical Services

There will be a nurse available on the premises. If you need to see the nurse, inform your chairs and a member of the administrative staff or security staff will escort you there.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Sustainability

In accordance with our sustainability policy, we kindly request that all participants use their own metallic bottles and refill them using the water fountains on our campus.

All participants are requested to use the recycling bins around campus.

Awards

During the closing ceremony of the conference, there will be one Best Delegate award as well as two Honourable Mentions for each committee. Awards to delegates are given on the basis of respect to chairs and other delegates, participation during the sessions, constructive amendments, and resolutions they main or co-submit.

Lunch Break

The lunch break occurs in three separate sessions for the two days. All delegates, advisors and Student Officers are allowed to eat in the Pierce Cafeteria at the designated times.

Electronic Devices, Smoking, Alcohol

All mobile phones and electronic devices must be switched off. Laptops are allowed only during lobbying.

No smoking or alcohol consumption is allowed on the premises.

RULES OF PROCEDURE

Official Language

English is the official and working language of this conference and therefore it is to be used in all proceedings and all kinds of communication between the delegates. This rule applies to all the committees within the school premises at all times. ACGMUN follows THIMUN rules and procedures and all documents are based on those.

Delegations and Delegates

During formal procedures delegations can only communicate with each other by the means of note-passing.

Each participant is responsible for their personal belongings for the duration of the conference.

Delegation signs may not be removed from the room.

Committee Session

The decisions of the Secretariat and the Chairpersons are final.

It is vital that every delegate wishing to address the committee or move a motion raises their placard and waits until they are recognized by the Chair. They may not interrupt a speaker and should, thus, wait for the floor to be open.

The Chairs reserve the right to suspend note passing if the delegates do not use it for session related purposes.

Debate

Modes of Debate:

1. Closed debate: under this format there is a distinction between time in favor of the draft resolution debated upon and time against.
2. Open debate: under this format the above distinction does not exist and therefore delegates are given the floor in an order without regard to their support or opposition to the proposal.

No motion or point can interrupt the speaker, except from the point of personal privilege and only when it refers to audibility problems. The point of order can only interrupt the voting procedure.

During debate, the delegate who has the floor may yield the floor either to the Chairs, Points of Information or another delegation. He/She may also declare a no yield. Regarding the yield to another delegate, consecutive yields are not permitted. However, the delegate who had the floor yielded to him/her also has the right, with the approval of the chair, to be asked and respond to POIs.

RULES OF PROCEDURE

Resolutions

No resolution can contain financial amounts but can refer to possible financial resources without specifications of exact amounts.

Signatories

Each resolution shall have a Main Submitter and Co-Submitters. The latter do not have to fully agree with the draft resolution's content; their signature is required for the draft resolution to be eligible for debate. Signatories should constitute 1/3 of the total members present in the committee. Signatories can sign only one resolution per topic.

Amendments

All amendments shall be submitted during the Committee sessions on the official amendment sheet.
Only one amendment per amendment sheet will be in order.

Voting

Each country represented shall only have one vote per voting procedure; NGOs and Observer States are also allowed to vote.

Abstentions will be allowed on both resolutions and amendments unless a Motion to Divide the House has been raised and entertained. On procedural matters (motions) abstentions are not allowed.

If the Committee votes come to a tie, then the proposal will be rejected.

Draft Resolution

The draft resolution is a document which includes proposed measures that according to your country will solve the issue.

Preambulatory Clauses

They constitute the introduction of the resolution, and they contain the background of the issue. Each clause begins with a pre-ambulatory phrase and ends with a comma. These clauses are not debatable.

Please note that these operative clauses may only be used in the Security Council.

Lobbying

During the lobbying procedure, delegates work and negotiate with each other in order to reach a consensus. This is the time for delegates to share their views and create alliances, always with regard to their country's policies.

Once the alliances are formed, the alliance needs to the Chairs for a Co-Submitter sheet, which every delegation signs, stating their membership in the alliance and approving the inclusion of their country's name to the final resolution.

Once an alliance has crafted their final resolution, which should follow the official format, it needs to be brought to the Expert Chair on the topic who will correct any policy or format mistakes.

The resolution has to be approved by the Approval Panel. The Chairs and the Admin Staff are responsible for getting the A-number. The Main Submitter is not going to be involved in the process.

CONFERENCE MANUAL

This is when all the resolutions are being discussed. The delegates' goal is to persuade the House to vote in favor of their resolution.

A copy of the resolution that is to be discussed will be distributed to all the delegates. The Main Submitter will be called upon to read the operative clauses out loud and deliver a speech in favor of the resolution. Once debate time for a resolution has elapsed the House moves into voting procedure.

During debate we remind the delegates that they should by any means be respectful and diplomatic.

Speakers should refrain from using the first personal pronoun ("I") or related phrases such as "My delegation..." as they are representing a country and not themselves.

All ACG offices that have been involved in the planning and the implementation of the 6th ACGMUN.

Our deepest gratitude goes to this year's ACGMUN Sponsors:
MARS, Inc. , Dodoni S.A.

The menu has been designed by executive chef Dimitris Skarmoutsos - Dipnosofistirion.

Food leftovers from all events will be processed through "Perissevma Kardias", the new CSR program of Dipnosofistirion Catering, which offers food to people in need, associations and institutions throughout Attica.
